

SALESLOFT

the fourth fastest-growing software company in the United States

Atlanta, GA
35,000 SF

To identify flexible workspace that reinforces the culture of an Atlanta Tech Village-born software company.

Challenges:

- Find space that allows for undetermined future growth.
- Capture neighborhood amenities and transportation options that appeal to a millennial workforce.
- Establish a workplace platform that encourages collaboration while ensuring transparency and flexibility.

Creative Solutions:

- Toured multiple buildings with client to assess feasibility, functionality and creativity in support of corporate culture and future growth.
- Activated space for collaboration to encourage cross-communication and transparency between departments and colleagues. An interactive break room inspires intermingling. Huddle rooms and lounge areas offer space for impromptu meetings or quiet time.
- Incorporated alternatives to traditional workstations to support millennial work patterns. Sit/stand desks and soft seating areas offer variety.

Services Provided:

- programming
- space planning
- visioning sessions and renderings
- construction documents
- FFE
- consultant coordination (MEP, structural engineers, security, AV, IT)
- construction administration

Completion:

2018
